JoyaEUR"an ironic name for a friendly senior dog that had partially lost her joy. She was the victim of the foreclosure market during the 2008 financial crisis recession when her family lost their home. So many pets were given up or disposed due to no fault of their own other than their owners being forced to make difficult decisions to survive. This is her heartwarming story of the winter of her life from initially becoming homeless, her risk of euthanasia, being accepted as a mascot for the rescue who believed that she was unadoptable, and then finding a forever home with me. Joy had an original remaining life expectancy of six to nine months when I adopted her, and she ended up living with us for almost three years as a result of being loved and GodaEUR(tm)s grace. Because of that love, she thrived until her body finally started to give in to her disease. Joy touched and inspired many lives as well as my own with her against the odds story of hope, survival, and perseverance.

House cleaning has been an innate human activity forever but only since the early 19th century have mechanical devices replaced the physical labor (performed mostly by women). Mechanical carpet sweepers were replaced by manual suction cleaners, which in turn were replaced by electric vacuum cleaners in the early 20th century. Innovative inventors, who improved vacuum cleaners as electricity became commonly available, made these advances possible. Many early manufacturers failed, but some, such as Bissell, Hoover, Eureka and others, became household names as they competed for global dominance with improved features, performance and appearance. This book describes the fascinating people who made this possible, as well as the economic, cultural and technological contexts of their times. From obscure beginnings 200 years ago, vacuum cleaners have become an integral part of modern household culture.
