A soak in muriatic acid(very corrosive, use protective gear while using) will kill and dissolve any life on the rock. It also has the added benefit of stripping phosphates that have bound to the surface over time. Soak until rock looks nice and clean. After you are done soaking the rock, add baking soda to neutralize the acid(pH of 5 is safe).

You can't kill rock elementals unless it's a 100+ and you're trying to tame it. They're effectively invulnerable if you don't want them, but they're super fragile if you do want them, they drop like tissue paper to non-headshot cannonfire. A lot like direbears. If you're lvl 15 and can't get away from one, they're immortal.

To kill a tree stump, start by drilling holes across the top of the stump that are at least 8 inches deep. Then, fill up the holes with Epsom salts or rock salts and seal them shut with melted candle wax. Once you've filled and sealed all of the holes, cover the stump with a plastic tarp or trash bag and wait at least 6 weeks for the stump to die.
