The ability to proficiently detect a change in the environment is crucial to survivability. Attention is a cognitive function with limited capacity. Selective attention is an unconscious focusing of attentiveness in an environment. Fields of battle are subjected to a relentless bombardment of corporeal information necessitating peripheral (non-focused) attention. A battle environment will incline a soldier to narrowly focus attention on elements in this environment particular to the soldier. The subjective nature of selective attention along with stress can lead some soldiers to divert attention away from threats, which negatively impacts the performance of the soldier and offers an explanation as to why some combatants will fail to engage targets as ingrained in training during initial contact. Visuospatial activities such as action video gaming improve attentional capture that may overcome deficits in selective attention. This paper combines research to demonstrate that specific visuospatial integration training, a refinement of personality trait, can compensate for diminished selective attention in battlefield situations through attentional capture and execution time. These developments will show to be an extension of selective attention and improve performance on the field of battle.

There will always be a need for professionals to work collaboratively if they are to provide the highest standard of care. Interprofessional working encourages practitioners to understand the roles of other professionals and to learn from each other, as well as from service users and carers, to ensure the full benefit of this collaboration is realised. It is an essential element of both education and practice for today's professionals. Interprofessional

Working in Health and Social Care discusses the rationale, skills and conditions required for interprofessional working. In addition, it provides an overview of the roles and perspectives of different health professionals across a broad range of expertise: education, housing, medicine, midwifery, nursing, occupational therapy, physiotherapy, police, probation, radiography, social work and youth work. The second edition: - Offers a broad variety of case studies from a range of fields and settings - Includes a new chapter dedicated to interprofessional working with service users and carers - Looks forward, offering brand new content on new and emerging roles such as specialist paramedics and approved mental health practitioners This book is a valuable tool for students and practitioners across the health and social care discipline, employing engaging case studies and reflective activities to support learning about interprofessional and interagency collaboration. Erratum: please note the term 'Approved Mental Health Practitioner' has been used in error, instead of 'Approved Mental Health Professional'. In today's busy world, it is so important to stay grounded in the Word of God. With our busy schedules and hectic lives, we can sometimes reason with ourselves that we don't have time to do a devotional or read the Bible. But this couldn't be further from the truth. Destination Heartland: 183

Devotionals to Plant in 365 Days is an inspiring collection of succinct devotionals by author Demario Rollins. Written out of years of experience and his personal relationship with God, Demario has created a devotional that poses scriptures to meditate on each day and challenges readers with applications to put the scriptures into practice. Each entry is brief enough to be done in a few minutes while still allowing readers to devote time to hearing the Word of God and creating the mental and spiritual framework to "do" the scripture during the day and following days, all while underscoring the truth that the entire Bible is God-breathed and inspired. Inspired by his time as a small group leader and seeing the fruit produced by sharing his devotionals with its members, Demario is now bringing the same opportunity to the world, inviting readers to come along on the journey with each devotional able to be reflected on and applied twice in the 365 days. If you are ready for spiritual transformation and want to be a doer, not just a hearer, of the Word, this book is for you! Make this next year your spiritually best yet! Demario Rollins has regularly enjoyed serving in numerous roles of ministry including teacher, jail minister and youth group leader to name a few. He has a doctorate degree in Pharmacy from Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University and is a practicing pharmacist. Demario's inspiration for this book was a deep desire to provide the reader a succinct publication to pursue God through daily devotion. This unique presentation provides a daily "Scripture" and a daily "Application" to be covered twice in one year. Demario and his wife
