Cambridge University Press The Institute of Food Technologists (IFT) recently endorsed the use of computers in food science education. The minimum standards for degrees in food science, as suggested by IFT, "require the students to use computers in the solution of problems, the collection and analysis of data, the control processes, in addition to word processing." Because they are widely used in business, allow statistical and graphical of experimental data, and can mimic laboratory experimentation, spreadsheets provide an ideal tool for learning the important features of computers and programming. In addition, they are ideally suited for food science students, who usually do not have an extensive mathematical background. Drawing from the many courses he has taught at UC Davis, Dr. Singh covers the general basics of spreadsheets using examples specific to food science. He includes more than 50 solved problems drawn from key areas of food science, namely food microbiology, food chemistry, sensory evaluation, statistical quality control, and food engineering. Each problem is presented with the required equations and detailed steps necessary for programming the spreadsheet. Helpful hints in using the spreadsheets are also provided throughout the text. Key Features * The first book to integrate spreadsheets in teaching food science and technology * Includes more than 50 solved examples of spreadsheet use in food science and engineering * Presents a step-by-step introduction to spreadsheet use * Provides a food composition database on a computer disk

The India Migration Report 2023: Student Migration is one of the first books that attempts to comprehensively explore the various nuances of Indian international student migration factoring in multiple factors that influence the migration journey of Indian students. It also looks into other migration stories including internal and international returnees, various impacts of remittances, and migration in the context of the pandemic. This volume: Inspect the factors driving the student migration from India, accounting for both the historical and current happenings influencing these factors. Following the pandemic, the book highlights the challenges faced by Indian international students in accessing health care and other related services which goes on to push them into vulnerable situations. Outlines the reasoning behind Indian students' decision to emigrate and how families play an important role in influencing key migration decisions made by students and the different patterns of student migration observed in India. Examines the employment challenges experienced, particularly following the COVID-19 pandemic, by the highly skilled Indian migrants and Indian international students. Describes the role that recruitment and consultancy agencies play in international student mobility (ISM) and examines the intricate relationship between migrant agencies and migration facilitation. Investigates the psychological, economic and social challenges faced by Indian international students during their migration journey both during and after the completion of their course abroad. Provides a critical overview of the conditions of both internal and international returnees to different parts of India. Studies the impact of remittances on migrant households including their consumption patterns and human capital investment. Analyses interstate migration networks through the prism of gender and critically assesses how gender migration patterns have altered throughout time. Scholars, students, researchers, academicians, policymakers or anyone with an interest in migration, migration politics, economics, social psychology, migration policies, development studies, sociology, social anthropology and gender studies will find this book on Indian student migration extremely informative. The book is a comprehensive collection of various studies that look into the multiple aspects of student migration but also extend to other pertinent issues of Indian migration that are extremely relevant at this given point in time.

This book mirrors the impact of education on women's equality, with special emphasis on technical education, entrepreneurship, research and consultancy. It sheds light on issues of social justice to accord women their rightful place in decision-making. Focus is given to the profound desire of women to forge social partnerships in the contemporary world for better prospects. The book also rests on the premise that women can contribute to prosperity and peace only if they are properly educated, and able to make and implement decisions themselves. The volume will also educate the reader on how women are powerhouses of innovation and creativity, as their contributions in the field of higher education, especially science and technology, have been highly laudable. It will provide the reader with the opportunity to enrich their understanding of how economic freedom is very important for female empowerment, and presents women as partners for economic development.
