What If I Don ' t Have Enough Faith? – Grace Waves

Unlike many other apologetic books that only talk about why the New Testament writers were telling the truth/ how we can trust that the Bible is the Word of God, "I Don't Have Enough Faith to Be an Atheist" begins with disproving the self-defeating post- modern notion that "truth is relative", to showing how science and reason point to a theistic God, and all the way to proving beyond a reasonable doubt that Jesus is the Son of God as He claimed He was. Several Reasons Why I Don ' t Have Enough Faith to Be An ... I Don ' t Have Enough Faith to Be an Atheist argues that Christianity requires the least faith of all worldviews because it is the most reasonable. The authors lay out the evidence for truth, God, and the Bible in logical order and in a readable, non-technical, engaging style. A valuable aid to those interested in examining the reasonableness of the Christian faith, Geisler and Turek provide a firm challenge to the prior beliefs of doubters and skeptics.

When You Don't Think You Have Enough Faith

God sometimes gives us just enough faith to get through the day. Or maybe even less – only enough faith to get through the moment. We don't always need enough faith to fill the Grand Canyon. And it doesn't have to look like we envisioned: head up, shoulders back, calm heart marching like a champ through the storm.

Arguments that Quirinius collected his first census in 6 A.D. have been rejected with archaeological evidence. Arguments that Daniel 9 is written in the second century are refuted with examples from ancient history, such as the writings of Josephus. To quote Frank Turek, I don't have enough faith to be an atheist. References. Brown, M.L. (2000).
