Many of our clients choose to use the IKM test (TeckChek) as part of their recruitment process. This is a multiple choice technical assessment that takes, on average, around 45-60 minutes to complete.
You should expect to have to tackle between 30 and 50 questions; each of these questions takes time to read, and to answer.

I have done this test last year, i think

exactly same test you need to do. You have about 60 mins to finish about 30-40
questions, and
questions cover all
over the J2EE
knowledge, very detailed. i reckon this test is just too hard,
if you can finish this
test without any help,
then you are almost like a J2EE reference
book, or super man.

Try to answer questions in the STAR format, since it allows you to deliver the most informed and exhaustive responses.
Your phone interview may take up to 40 minutes. If the corporate recruiter is pleased with your answers over the phone, you will be required to pass one of the IKM tests.

Am I just dumb for doing this badly on the IKM test? I've been programming in Java casually since 2008 but only professionally since last year. I recently tried the IKM test and got absolutely demolished - I scored only 62/100 which apparently puts me around the 40th percentile of test takers.
