Aleister Crowley's The Book of Lies is an important and complex work of occultism. Deciphering its many layers of hidden meaning requires a little patience and more than a beginner's knowledge of Thelema. For those interested in passing beyond the initiate stage, the reward offered by a deeper understanding of this challenging text is well worth the effort. This new 2018 edition of The Book of Lies from Kismet Publishing restores all of Crowley's original text, including the important keys, sigils and diagrams often omitted from reprints.

More than fifty years ago, John Coltrane drew the twelve musical notes in a circle and connected them by straight lines, forming a five-pointed star. Inspired by Einstein, Coltrane put physics and geometry at the core of his music. Physicist and jazz musician Stephon Alexander follows suit, using jazz to answer physics' most vexing questions about the past and future of the universe. Following the great minds that first drew the links between music and physics—a list including Pythagoras, Kepler, Newton, Einstein, and Rakim—The Jazz of Physics reveals that the ancient poetic idea of the Music of the Spheres," taken seriously, clarifies confounding issues in physics. The Jazz of Physics will fascinate and inspire anyone interested in the mysteries of our universe, music, and life itself.

Do you know who you are? Are you living to your fullest potential? Do you consider yourself a success story? Are you happy with your life? Has the traditional education system enabled you to achieve harmony in all areas of your life? The problem why most people live mediocre lives is because of the negative programmings and conditionings they have received from the traditional education system. This includes their parents, teachers, and society who dictate how they think, behave, act, and achieve. Many are well-educated, some have earned several degrees but they are living in frustration, mediocrity, and poverty. There are some families that have a history of producing brilliant academicians but they consistently struggle with poverty. Why is this so? Why is it that some individuals with little or no formal education will rise to the pinnacle of greatness? Why is it that some will amass great fortunes while others languish in abject poverty? Why will some experience harmony in all areas of their lives while others won't? The answers to these questions are to be found in the one thing that gives rise to all: the human mind. The traditional education system has succeeded in controlling the human mind. And this is the reason why most people are not in control of their own destinies.
