The automatic transmission selector was redesigned to allow the manual selection of forward gears without accidentally selecting neutral or reverse. This new feature was dubbed the "J-Gate" and remained a staple of all Jaguar models up until the 2008 Jaguar XF , when shift by wire technology rendered it redundant - all subsequent Jaguar models now use a rotary knob for transmission mode selection.

For example, the North American XJ6 was only available with the 4.0 L engine, and all cars sold there were equipped with alloy wheels, a leather interior, and air conditioning. North America did not receive the Sport, Executive, or Century models, nor was a manual transmission offered.
