There were two models, the first was produced from 1975 and had a black release button for the flash.

The Konica C35 EF is designed to be used with a 1.35 volt PX-675 mercury button cell. Since the battery is no longer in production, replacements in the form of the 1.35 zinc-air hearing aid battery, or a higher voltage SR or LR 44 (1.5 volts) is often used. The battery for the flash unit is 2 units of the standard AA battery.
