Cut off the bottom of the paper on the dotted line. Cut out the box of soldiers and glue them into the middle of the horse. Cut out the wooden slats box, and glue JUST the top edge (or staple it) above the soldiers. Once it's dry, you can fold the flap up to show the soldiers hidden in the horse. It's easy, printable and no one will poke their eyes out with skewers! After all I prefer my skewers with shrimp on them, not horse.

The large photograph found here is of Icarus, one of Matisse's most famous cut-out artworks. One can quickly see the various elements of the scene, with each one having been individually cut from paper. The artist is likely to have moved the figure around the scene several times before deciding upon the composition that we find here.

In fact the horse ended up so large that the person at the back would be able to stand upright quite comfortably. I modeled the horse in Blender, starting with a simple cube and extruding new faces from it until I had a very rough outline of a horse, as shown in the first image here. I then gradually refined the shape of the horse, subdividing ...
