The Third Edition of ANSI/ACCA Manual D is the Air Conditioning Contractorsof America procedure for sizing residential duct systems. This procedureuses Manual J (ANSI/ACCA, Eighth Edition) heating and cooling loads todetermine space air delivery requirements. This procedure matches duct system resistance (pressure drop) to blower performance (as defined by manufacture's blower performance tables). This assures that appropriate airflow is delivered toall rooms and spaces; and that system airflow is compatible with the operatingrange of primary equipment. The capabilities and sensitivities of this procedureare compatible with single-zone systems, and multi-zone (air zoned) systems. The primary equipment can have a multi-speed blower (PSC motor), or avariable-speed blower (ECM or constant torque motor, or a true variable speed motor).Edition Three, Version 2.50 of Manual D (D3) specifically identifiesnormative requirements, and specifically identifies related informative material.

Some of the best writings on public budgeting and finance can be found in the journals that ASPA publishes or sponsors. For this volume editor Irene Rubin has brought together the best of these articles - emerging classics that address the most important theoretical and practical problems underlying public budgeting. The anthology is organized topically rather than historically, with an effort to delineate the issues needed to understand some of the more recent controversies in the field. Rubin's introductory essay and section openers frame the key issues and provide historical context for each article. The collection begins with descriptions of what public budgeting is, where it comes from, and what it is for. It moves on to the relationship between budget processes and outcomes, constraints on budgeting, the legal context in which it operates, and adaptations to those constraints such as contracting out. The book concludes with a discussion of the ethics and norms that underlie budgeting in a democracy. Throughout the anthology, the emphasis is on areas of disagreement and debate, so students can get involved and explore different viewpoints.
