This book is intended for a man or woman who has little experience in using an oven or broiler, has never fried an egg, doesn’t know when or when not to proportion a recipe, rarely shops for fresh greens, has never flipped vegetables in a frying pan, usually does not use a claw grip when cutting, does not know what Mise en place means, what pots and pans to buy, does not know if butter has a higher smoke point than EVOO, can’t explain what “shortening” is and doesn’t know if you can eat Thanksgiving leftover turkey on December 8. Almost all cookbooks skip all those concerns and concepts. This book presents those concepts, and more, both in print and with directions to YouTube.com videos that give clarity that text can rarely provide. The recipes start with the simplest and stay basic and detailed. The Glossary provides not just definitions but what a cook should know about the term. It concludes with a list of cookbooks and reference books to look to after completing this book and has a 80 + question quiz.

Nightline anchor Dan

unexpected, hilarious,

odyssey through the
strange worlds of spirituality and self-

way to get happier
that is truly achievable. After having a nationally

Dan Harris knew he had to make some changes. A lifelong himself on a bizarre adventure involving a

mysterious self-help guru, and a gaggle of brain scientists.
Eventually, Harris
realized that the source of his problems was the very

thing he always thought was his greatest asset: the incessant, insatiable
voice in his head,
which had propelled
him through the ranks of a hypercompetitive
business, but had also led him to make the profoundly stupid
decisions that
provoked his on-air freak-out. Finally,
Harris stumbled upon
an effective way to
rein in that voice,
something he always
assumed to be either
impossible or useless:
meditation, a tool that research suggests can do everything from lower your blood

rewire your brain.
