Magic or Madness book by Justine Larbalestier

Magic Or Madness was Justine Larbalestier's first YA novel. I've read Liar by her before, and it's one of my favorites. I enjoyed reading Magic Or Madness, but I wasn't wowed by it like I was her other books. I recognised the writing style - simple, emotive, and captivating. After reading Magic & Madness, I have a good feeling that Justine Larbalestier is one of the authors who she will adopt -- the book combines the reality of being young and in trouble with a world of magic one would love to explore (even as a grown up!); it's true fantasy that works because it doesn't skimp on being real.

Magic Or Madness by Justine Larbalestier | Scholastic

Reason 's mother, Sarafina, hated magic. She hated books about it or movies or stories. She hated fairy tales, hobbits, Walt Disney, Harry Potter, all of it. Most of all Sarafina hated her own mother, Reason 's grandmother, because she was magic too. Reason 's grandmother had been able to use that against Sarafina in the court cases.

Another thing about Magic or Madness -- it 's short. While it 's 304 pages, it 's a short 304 pages. I was able to start and finish it within a couple hours. While on one hand, I like being able to have a quick read, on the other I think the brevity characterized how some of the issues in the book weren 't deeply explored.
