Match Analysis And Game Preparation

Regardless of how much time you spend with your squad during the week, something that's definitely worth taking your time to explore is the Match Preparation aspect of the game. Taking five or 10 minutes to analyse your opposition and find their potential weaknesses can be the difference between success and failure on matchday.

Frans Hoek (Author of Match Analysis and Game Preparation)

Benoit Pimpaud has a style of analysis I find very comparable to my own. For him, preparation is key and repetition is necessary. “Before the match starts,” Benoit wrote me, “I go on WhoScored to see the last five lineups for both teams and look at the news to refresh my memory about the teams.” This calls up the concept of familiarity.
