Mini Down Under traces the history of one of New Zealand's - and the world's - best-loved cars. More versions of the Mini were available in New Zealand than anywhere else, and the launching of the iconic car in February 1960 was a larger-than-life event. In this lively and personal story, the author tracks the Mini's life in New Zealand, the connection between Kiwi racing driver Bruce McLaren and the birth of the Mini Cooper, the heady days of competition success in the Antipodes, the local assembly and marketing of the classic original car and the eventual development into the latest generation Mini for a new century.

Charting their training, travels, and performances, this innovative study explores the role of the artists that roamed the Chinese countryside in support of Mao's communist revolution. DeMare traces the development of Mao's 'cultural army' from its genesis in Red Army propaganda teams to its full development as a largely civilian force composed of amateur and professional drama troupes in the early years of the People's Republic of China (PRC). Drawing from memoirs, artistic handbooks, and rare archival sources, Mao's Cultural Army uncovers the arduous and complex process of creating revolutionary dramas that would appeal to China's all-important rural audiences. The Communists strived for a disciplined cultural army to promote party policies, but audiences often shunned modern and didactic shows, and instead clamoured for traditional works. DeMare illustrates how drama troupes, caught between the party and their audiences, did their best to resist the ever growing reach of the PRC state.

Cet ouvrage collectif, qui rassemble les travaux d'un colloque tenu à la Maison Française d'Oxford en 2002 sous le titre 'Henri Petit et son cercle', a deux buts: mieux comprendre la contribution apportée par Daniel Halévy et sa collection Les Cahiers verts à la vie littéraire des années 20 et étudier les débuts littéraires d'Henri Petit et de son cercle en rapport avec le volume collectif Écrits (Grasset, Les Cahiers verts, 1927), à l'occasion des soixante-quinze ans de celui-ci. L'année 1927 est une année charnière. C'est celle du centenaire de la publication de la Préface de Cromwell, et le Romantisme est de nouveau à la mode. Le dernier numéro des Cahiers verts avant Écrits est consacré à Anna de Noailles, peut-être la dernière des Romantiques. Mais en même temps un renouveau du classicisme semble se dessiner. Quelle est la place de cette collection dans l'histoire de l'édition et de la littérature? Et non seulement des Cahiers verts, mais de Daniel Halévy lui-même, dont le salon accueillait tant de personnalités de l'époque? De quel bord les jeunes écrivains d'Écrits pencheront-ils? Ils sont pratiquement inconnus à l'époque: Chamson, Malraux, Grenier, Petit. Parmi eux, ce dernier passe pour être le plus doué. Comment le situer par rapport à ses contemporains? Une équipe franco-britannique des meilleurs spécialistes répond à ces questions.

This is one of the most significant military books of the twentieth century. By an outstanding soldier of independent mind, it pushed forward the evolution of land warfare and was directly responsible for German armoured supremacy in the early years of the Second World War. Published in 1937, the result of 15 years of careful study since his days on the German General Staff in the First World War, Guderian's book argued, quite clearly, how vital the proper use of tanks and supporting armoured vehicles would be in the conduct of a future war. When that war came, just two years later, he proved it, leading his Panzers with distinction in the Polish, French and Russian campaigns. Panzer warfare had come of age, exactly as he had forecast. This first English translation of Heinz Guderian's classic book - used as a textbook by Panzer officers in the war - has an introduction and extensive background notes by the modern English historian Paul Harris.
