McGraw Hill Professional

By the end of the twentieth century certain new media had established themselves which have profoundly changed communication among lovers. SMS and email in particular have created new relational forms and forms of intimacy. From declarations of love on talk shows to televised dating games and marriage quiz shows, television offers a panoply of wildly popular theatrical communications of love. Does the neglecting of traditional communication media, such as love letters and the telephone, cause the intermingling of intimacy with the public sphere and hence the abrogation of it? From the disciplines of sociology, history, cultural and media studies and linguistics, this book offers answers to this question by analyzing and discussing new media from various perspectives. Contributions by Eva Illouz, Joachim R. Höflich, Friedrich Krotz, Helga Kotthoff, Karl Lenz, Sabine Maasen, and others. Nursing and Informatics for the 21st Century Series is a critical resource in chronicling the huge historical shift in nursing linked to the explosion of EHR national and international strategies and health policies around the globe. Each book in the series examines the revolution that has occurred in nursing and explores the role IT continues to play in this transformation, with a thoughtful examination of nursing practice, science and research, and education. This book, Nursing Education and Digital Health Strategies explores the current state of health and healthcare education, as well as the current state of nursing informatics education. These topics include technologies-enabled education for all nurses and interprofessional collaborations from a worldwide perspective. The "New" learning for applied critical thinking will include technology, content, skills versus tools, and the use of "smart" systems for care delivery, the role of critical thinking and uniqueness of nursing care delivery. Further, how these changes are understood as a paradigm shift that needs to be incorporated along with nursing and healthcare education is emphasized. The effects of technology on human behavior are also explored, addressing human-factors interaction, interdependence of human computer interaction and other effects of technology on wellbeing. As part of nursing education, learning from clients/patients to better shape and advance nursing education and scholarship are discussed. Academic-clinical practice partnerships for a digital future, how teams are working together (clinician/teacher) for better healthcare delivery and applied knowledge, including joint appointments (exchange of academia and applied expertise), academic-applied continuing human resources, and interprofessional learning/development are discussed. The book closes by discussing and using case studies to showcase nursing competencies for the next decade, and implications for preparing the healthcare workforce for a digital world, faculty readiness and the interaction with gaming and simulations. Nursing informatics education, including education beyond academia, i.e., informal education, worldwide is described as well as global challenges to support digital world capabilities. Hands-on Experiential Delivery (shifting from lecture-based delivery) - case studies learning-based exemplars are included. New York Construction Law Manual Using Lady Morgan's The Wild Irish Girl as his point of departure, Thomas J. Tracy argues that nineteenth-century debates over what constitutes British national identity often revolved around representations of Irishness, especially Irish womanhood. He maps the genealogy of this development in fiction, political discourse, and the popular press, from Edgeworth's Castle Rackrent through Trollope's Irish novels, focusing on the pivotal period from 1806 through the 1870s.
