A first-hand exploration of the diverse roles music plays in people's lives. My Music is a first-hand exploration of the diverse roles music plays in people's lives. "What is music about for you?" asked members of the Music in Daily Life Project of some 150 people, and the responses they received — from the profound to the mundane, from the deeply-felt to the flippant — reflect highly individualistic relationships to and with music. Susan Crafts, Daniel Cavicchi, and Project Director Charles Keil have collected and edited nearly forty of those interviews to document the diverse ways in which people enjoy, experience, and use music. CONTRIBUTORS: Charles Keil, George Lipsitz. Songwriting Createspace Independent Publishing Platform

Music has always been integral to the Black Lives Matter movement in the United States, with songs such as Kendrick Lamar ' s "Alright," J. Cole ' s "Be Free," D ' Angelo and the Vanguard's "The Charade," The Game ' s "Don ' t Shoot," Janelle Monae ' s "Hell You Talmbout," Usher ' s "Chains," and many others serving as unofficial anthems and soundtracks for members and allies of the movement. In this collection of critical studies, contributors draw from ethnographic research and personal encounters to illustrate how scholarly research of, approaches to, and teaching about the role of music in the Black Lives Matter movement can contribute to public awareness of the social, economic, political, scientific, and other forms of injustices in our society. Each chapter in Black Lives Matter and Music focuses on a particular case study, with the goal to inspire and facilitate productive dialogues among scholars, students, and the communities we study. From nuanced snapshots of how African American musical genres have flourished in different cities and the role of these genres in local activism, to explorations of musical pedagogy on the American college campus, readers will be challenged to think of how activism and social justice work might appear in American higher education and in academic research. Black Lives Matter and Music provokes us to examine how we teach, how we conduct research, and ultimately, how we should think about the ways that black struggle, liberation, and identity have evolved in the United States and around the world.

The digital interactive projection system is a staple of nearly every music classroom in the United States. By allowing teachers to show students methods and outcomes from a computer, these systems have become a necessity for reaching students who grew up as digital natives. But, as author and distinguished music educator Catie Dwinal demonstrates, such systems can be much more meaningful pedagogical tools than simple replacements for chalk boards. In this book she offers practical tips, tricks, resources, and 50 activities ideal to use alongside classroom projection systems. She focuses especially on tips and activities for beginning teachers, giving them the confidence to take a step out of their comfort zone and learn new ways of engaging students with technology. More than this, she provides reference materials that will serve as a trusted reference resource for years to come.

Are you a teacher of musical theatre who struggles to plan and construct lessons? Are you looking for a structured approach to teaching musical theatre to students of all abilities? Do you know your Ivor Novello from your Stephen Sondheim? Despite being one of the most popular forms of performance study, Musical Theatre is often the most difficult to teach due to its part-practical and part-academic approach. With few books on the market directly aimed at teachers, it can be a challenging and daunting task to devise a course of study that takes in the history of the form as well as considering the wider aspects that come together to make a successful musical. A Teacher's Guide to Musical Theatre enables teachers to plan and deliver courses in Musical Theatre with confidence and flair. The unique structure of the chapters guides teachers through key facts and concepts in musical theatre history and offers practical in-class activities for students. From topics for class discussion and essay assignments to journal entries and portfolios to sample test questions, this book is full of practical advice from experienced teachers in the field which make it the idea companion for teachers and instructors on diploma and degree-level courses, as well as those devising courses in part-time performing arts schools. Devised to provide sufficient engaging and inspirational material for an initial term or semester, the book establishes the principles of teaching this relatively new subject and encourages teachers to extend much further into the subject. From The Mikado to Hamilton and everything in between, this book breaks down decades of history into appropriately sized lessons, designed to give students a rounded survey of the subject and an understanding of how musicals work. Offering expert guidance to those with varied fields of expertise and practical experience but limited teaching experience, book:- Very few people knew that I am writing this book. Even I could not imagine that I will come up with such a book so early.

As always, there are few people behind a person who do the things. I, first of all, will mention those three people.

Firstly, Himanshu, my husband, this is his idea. It was just a few months back when the research methodology lectures started around March.

I was making my notes for class. He said, "Write every lecture in detail; you can make it a book later". I didn't know this can be materialized in July.

Secondly, my Guruji Pandit Sanjoy Bandopadhyay, who is always an inspiration for almost everything in my life. He deserves special thanks as he only had confidence (which I didn't have) on me. Thirdly, Dr Krishnendu Dutta, My colleague at Sikkim University. He has just blind confidence in me. He only asked me to do it just now. And I did; thank You Sir! The time when this book was being written was tough in every one's life.

India was fighting with the second wave of COVID-19. With lots of stress and worry of losing one of the dearest members of the family, sometimes I was writing with tears in my eyes. In this journey, two of my dearest students Manisha and Saraswati, who were with me for almost three months, have helped me a lot in nearly everything. They are the witness of all the sentences/pages I was improving. Every diagram I was doing. Thanks a lot, Dear!.

God bless you. My mother and sister were worrying every day about how will I finish my work. My MPhil and PhD student. Who unknowingly are the very first inspiration for this book to happen. And to my little sitar student Shradha Sharma who has designed the cover page. Special thanks to the wizard publisher especially Saiyed Junaid, to bear with my delay submitting the manuscript and materializing it.
