The Musician's Guide to Aural Skills, by Joel Phillips...

One activity practiced in aural skills related to these skills is dictation. The end-product of a dictation is a visual representation of the music: you write down what you hear. While this is a useful musical skill by itself, it is important to remember that this is not the sole purpose of dictation. Dictation is used to develop your ability to comprehend music aurally, and to evaluate your level of comprehension.
