Contextual Listening: Developing Aural Analysis Skills

Finding Workbook Answers? Hey guys, I've begun self-studying music theory in greater depth with Clendinning's Musician's Guide, 2nd ed. However, I've hit a sort of bump in the road, as I have no way to check if my workbook answers are correct! I feel that I should be doing the workbook to cement what I'm learning and make sure I understand it ...

One activity practiced in aural skills related to these skills is dictation. The end-product of a dictation is a visual representation of the music: you write down what you hear. While this is a useful musical skill by itself, it is important to remember that this is not the sole purpose of dictation. Dictation is used to develop your ability to comprehend music aurally, and to evaluate your level of comprehension.
