My Documents Folder Missing

As soon as you realize that you have missing files, stop using the affected drive as much as possible. Though the files appear to be deleted since they are not currently visible to your operating system, they probably have only been logically removed from your computer. The files still physically exist on the storage device. This potentially allows the files to be recovered by data recovery software.

Restore from Recycle Bin or Trash. If you are running Apple macOS or Microsoft Windows and the file was recently deleted, it may still be in the Trash or Recycle Bin. If present in this area, it can be recovered by right-clicking the file and selecting Restore in the menu.
