One of the artefacts is rumoured to be Nefertiti's Heart, a gem of immense power reputed to give the owner immortality.

Unfortunately, there's a killer after the artefact too and Cara soon finds herself facing some hard choices - continuing to run from the killer, or being helped by Nathaniel Trent, a viscount and a pirate/businessman/crime lord who wants the artefact for himself.

His icy exterior and fiery touch stirs Cara's demons, or could he lay them to rest? Self-preservation fuels Cara's search for the gem known as Nefertiti's Heart. In a society where everyone wears a mask to hide their true intent, she needs to figure out who to trust, before she sacrifices her own heart and life.

Overall, Nefertiti's Heart is a very promising beginning to the Artifact Hunter's series and I'd love to read the rest of the books. The romance, steampunk, and vaguely mystical aspects of the book all work together very well and the bold, courageous Cara makes for a fantastic and interesting main character to follow.
