'Yimbama' is the second collection by Indigenous Australian poet Ken Canning, also known as Burruga Gutya. Canning is one of the strongest voices in contemporary Indigenous Australian activism. The poems collected here offer an unflinching examination of the lasting damage done to Indigenous Australia by European colonization and the continuing political struggle. As unflinching and uncompromising these poems are in their protest and dissent, love for country, community and tradition remains central. These poems give witness and insight to the reality of contemporary Aboriginal Australia and demand to be heard. There is wisdom here, hard-won, lived and told true. In writing I try to cover a diverse range of topics while writing about issues that I have experienced. As an Aboriginal man in my 60s, I have seen a lot of political deception I have suffered imprisonment and having all dignity stripped away. I have seen our Peoples lost forever in institutions and finally because of this, in later years I was diagnosed with a schizo-effective disorder. I have survived this and live a normal life. Some of my poems reflect my feelings of political treachery, oppression and the mental state this leaves. Yet in the text their remains a love of our Culture and Our Mother Earth. A gentleness survives and overcomes the bitterness. It is important to note that while I am writing about my experiences, I am writing about the First Nations Peoples of this country's survival against some horrific experiences. In address mental health issues, I was fortunate to be able to write some of these poems while I was ill. I want ALL peoples to know such an illness is not the end and please do not let it define you. I have learned via my wife Cheryl, love overcomes all adversity. Burruga Gutya Ken Canning is from the Kunja Clan of the Bidjara Peoples of South West Queensland. His language name is Burruga Gutya. Poet and playwright, he started writing over 40 years ago from a prison cell in the old Boggo Road Jail in Brisbane, learning how to read and write from a fellow inmate. He worked for many years in Aboriginal Education, and was a founder and former Academic and Cultural advisor at the Jumbunna Indigenous House of Learning.

From award-winning Indonesian author Laksmi Pamuntjak comes a tale of profound love against the backdrop of myth, culture, and politics. In this sweeping saga of love, loss, revolution, and the resilience of the human spirit, Amba must find the courage to forge her own path. Amba was named after a tragic figure in Indonesian mythology, and she spends her lifetime trying to invent a story she can call her own. When she meets two suitors who fit perfectly into her namesake's myth, Amba cannot help but feel that fate is teasing her. Salwa, respectful to a fault, pledges to honor and protect Amba, no matter what. Bhisma, a sophisticated, European-trained doctor, offers her sensual pleasures and a world of ideas. But military coups and religious disputes make 1960s Indonesia a place of uncertainty, and the chaos strengthens Amba's pursuit of freedom. The more Amba does to claim her own story, the better she understands her inextricable bonds to history, myth, and love. "Earth Dance," the story of four generations of Balinese women, centers on conflicts that arise between the demands of caste and personal desires. Narrated by Ida Ayu Telaga, a Balinese woman in her thirties, the novel shows Balinese women—as depicted by her mother, grandmother and female peers—to be motivated by two factors: the yearning to be beautiful, and the desire for a high-caste husband. Headstrong Telaga defies her mother's wishes and marries the man of her dreams, who is a commoner. Thus, in a reversal of societal expectations, as shown in the novel by images of women who aspire to "liberation" through "marrying up," Telaga's emancipation is implicitly characterized as a move downwards, through transformation to the status of a commoner. "Earth Dance" also reveals that-like high-caste status-beauty, too, has a price. Behind the thick, glossy hair and golden complexion, lies a web of jealousy, derision and intrigue. Telaga, whose life is controlled by her mother's avarice, her mother-in-law's bitterness and the greed of her sister-in-law, has frequent cause to wonder: "Is this what it means to be a woman?"

As democratic reforms swept Indonesia in the late nineties, the nation's young generation asked themselves: what does it mean to be free? Spanning fifteen years, this novel follows the struggles and hopes, loves and disappointments of two young Indonesians who came of age during Reformasi. Following the entwined paths of Julita and Rizky as they struggle to break free from a pattern of repeated disappointments and define themselves, Handayani presents a portrait of the changing and complex reality of contemporary Indonesia, and of the younger generation born out of revolution. 'From Now On Everything Will Be Different' is a compelling study of freedom and love, community and conformity, told with humour, sensuality and a subtly sharp political intelligence. "A finely choreographed love story that shadows the larger changes and challenges of life in contemporary Indonesia. It charts the fever and the friction of a relationship, exploring conflicted identities in a complex world, where social pressures push against emerging independence and new freedoms. Sharply designed, intoxicating, reverberant." -Nicholas Jose "The protagonists are complicated and full of life, a boy and a girl becoming a man and a woman, and struggling to do it with as much honesty as they can. This novel is about what it is like to come of age at the end of a revolution." -Ruby J. Murray "The novel is set against the uncertain politics of contemporary Indonesia, the excesses and failures of which lend a poignant urgency to the characters' equally clumsy attempts at forging an honest and enduring relationship; as democracy goes (or remains elusive), so does love." -Jose Dalisay Jr. This is Eliza Vitri Handayani's first novel to be published in English. She has published short stories, essays and translations in leading Indonesian literary outlets as well as in the Asia Literary Review, Griffith Review and Asymptote Journal. In 2004 she won an Anugerah Adikarya from the Indonesian Publishers Association, for best young-adult book. She is the founder of InterSastra, an Indonesian literary translation initiative.

""Umum diketahui arsitektur tak berhenti pada sebuah bangunan. Ia bukan saja hasil ide, kreativitas, dan keterampilan; ia juga langsung berhubungan dengan kekuasaan: selera dan gaya hidup sang patron, corak ""keindahan"" dan ""kenyamanan"" yang dominan, hubungan sosial-politik antara ruang sosial dan ruang privat. Membicarakan arsitektur yang tak hanya tentang bangunan itu yang saya lihat diusahakan Avianti Armand dalam buku ini. Di dalamnya kita diperkenalkan bukan saja dengan pemikiran arsitektur (yang menyebabkan arsitek tak cukup hanya mendesain), tapi juga dengan masalah-masalah yang membuat kita mengamati sesuatu yang lain di balik, di atas, dan di sekitar karya yang umumnya hanya tampak sebagai konstruksi yang bagus dan sesuai itu.""

--Goenawan Mohamad ""Avianti membaca gejala kehadiran arsitektur melalui hati. Di dalamnya, sanubari mendahului rasa. Dengan demikian tanda tak lagi ada batas penafsiran. Kita mungkin sulit mencari awal dan masih akan menanti akhir kisah karena semuanya memang penggalan. Ada dan tiada hanya menurunkan antara dan senantiasa bergerak, menyentuh berbagai segi kehidupan manusia yang tampil dengan segenap bungkus kata dan laku. Waktu dan ruang saling berlipat dalam tuturan; dan untuk membuka lipatan, Anda perlu berhati-nurani."" --Prof. Ir. Gunawan Tjahjono, M. Arch., Ph.D., Guru Besar Arsitektur Tetap Universitas Indonesia ""Kita makin yakin, hal-hal arsitektur tidak pernah membosankan diulang-ulang, terutama ketika dihubungkan dengan segala hal lain seolah secara acak oleh Avianti Armand."" --Marco Kusumawijaya, Director, Rujak Center for Urban Studies""

Pohon-pohon jati muda menjulang melampauimu, melampauiku—melampauai kita. “ Nantinya mereka akan hidup melampauai umurku, umurmu—umur kita, ” katamu. Siapa yang pernah menanam pohon akan tahu bahwa yang tumbuh bukan hanya sebuah batang dalam ruang, tapi juga sebetuk tanda dalam waktu. (“ Matahari ”) Di pohon-pohon raksasa itu tinggal babi-babi dengan tubuh tambun dan lemak bertumpuk. Babi-babi akan menyukai apel-apel kecil di dadaku. Dengan napas mendengus dan suara menguik-nguik, mereka akan menjilati dan menggerogotinya. Babi memang rakus. Air liur mereka akan menetes-netes, meninggalkan bau bacin yang susah hilang. Tapi jangan kuatir, babi-babi itu pemurah dan tak pernah marah. Kau akan sanggup membeli sabun wangi sesudahnya, dan sepasang sepatu kaca. Kilapnya akan membuatmu lupa. (“ Kupu-kupu ”) Suatu ketika, aku begitu kesal, sampai mengusulkan pada Ibu untuk menukarku dengan Lara. Ibu bilang, keluarga tak bisa ditukar. Aku bilang, sayang sekali. Soalnya, kalau bisa, aku ingin menukar Ibu. Ibuku terkejut. Dengan siapa, tanyanya marah. Dengan Nyai Roro Kidul, jawabku mantap.

(“ Sempurna ”) Lelaki yang dicintai Ibu mencintaiku juga. Ia suka membelai kepalaku dan membelikan aku berbagai jajanan: permen dan aneka keripik yang mengandung MSG. Aku tahu, permen tak baik untuk gigi, dan MSG tak baik untuk otak, tapi aku tak peduli. Ibu tak pernah membelikan jajanan dan tak memberikan ayah. Jadi, lelaki ini ideal. (“ Perempuan Tua dalam Kepala ”) Setiap cerita di dalam buku ini memancing pemaknaan baru atas hal-hal yang biasa kita temui, seperti konflik cinta, masalah keluarga, dan pertanyaan atas eksistensi manusia. Unik, indah, dan mengusik dengan jalan cerita yang tak terduga-duga.
