At the Circus is a 1939 comedy film starring the Marx Brothers released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in which they help save a circus from bankruptcy. The film contains Groucho Marx's classic rendition of "Lydia the Tattooed Lady". The supporting cast includes Florence Rice, Kenny Baker, Margaret Dumont, and Eve Arden. The songs, including "Lydia the Tattooed Lady", "Two Blind Loves", and "Step Up and Take a Bow", were written by the team of Harold Arlen and Yip Harburg.

Nights at the Circus - The British Library

Nights at the Circus employs learning disabled actors in the performance and their presence on stage is magical and alluring. At just over 45 minutes Nights at the Circus feels like a very brief show. With only three performers, maybe the inclusion of someone else on the stage would have expanded the narrative and allowed the audience a further glimpse into this strange and inviting world.

At the Circus - Wikipedia

Nights at the Circus is the penultimate novel by Angela Carter; published in 1984, it marked a change of direction in her work. As well as being substantially longer than anything she had previously produced, it developed Carter ' s earlier interest in fairy tales into a form of magical realism.

Nights at the Circus by Angela Carter - Goodreads

Well, "Nights at the Circus" is very different from "Water for Elephants." The story itself is fantastic: Jack, a young journalist, decides to do a story on a mysterious half-woman/half-swan trapeze artist (Sophie/Fevvers). Jack becomes smitten with Fevvers and decides to join the circus so he can be with her.

The Night Circus by Erin Morgenstern Plot Summary | LitCharts

Nights at the Circus is an endlessly original, entirely absorbing magical realism saturated with ambience. Her lush, elegant, ridiculous prose revels in her usual dichotomy of dreamy, psychedelic descriptions brought into sharp focus by the earthy, repellent reminders of filth.

Nights at the Circus is a 1984 novel by English author Angela Carter. A Picaresque, it starts with roving American reporter Jack Walser interviewing aerialist Sophie Fevvers in Victorian London on her amazing (if hard to credit) life story. Left on the doorstep of a brothel, Sophie sprouted wings when she hit puberty.
