Jiddu Krishnamurti Quotes on Relationship Do what you will, withdraw to the mountains, sit in a forest, you cannot live in isolation. You can live only in relationship, and as long as relationship is not understood, there can be no right action.
Right action comes in understanding relationship, which reveals the process of oneself.

'Relationship' | J. Krishnamurti Relationship. Relationship based on mutual need brings only conflict. However interdependent we are on each other, we are using each other for a purpose, for an end. With an end in view, relationship is not. You may use me and I may use you. In this usage, we lose contact. A society based on mutual usage is the foundation of violence.

Krishnamurti: Is all relationship out of this isolation? living is relationship. We cannot live if you and I have built a wall around ourselves and just peep over that wall occasionally. Can there be relationship as long as there is any separateness, division? Can there be relationship if there is no contact, not only physical but at every level of our being, with another? One may hold the hand of another and yet be miles away, wrapped in one's own thoughts and problems. Unconsciously, deeply, under the wall, we are related.

The Mirror Of Relationship By Jiddu Krishnamurti

Jiddu Krishnamurti was an Indian speaker and writer. In his early life, he was groomed to be the new World Teacher, but later rejected this mantle and withdrew from the Theosophy organization behind it. His interests included psychological revolution, the nature of mind, meditation, inquiry, human relationships, and bringing about radical change in society. He stressed the need for a revolution in the psyche of every human being and emphasised that such revolution cannot be brought about by any
