"Heather Gudenkauf is one of my favorite new authors, and NOT A SOUND explains why. You won't be able to put down this breathless story of a young nurse, Amelia Winn, who has lost everything after a tragic accident - her nursing career, her husband, her stepdaughter, and even her hearing.

Heather Gudenkauf has an incredible talent which shines through in One Breath Away. The flow of the story was excellent, the detail and character development was wonderful and the fact that she has written a story that truly focuses on the truth of society makes this a gripping story that many readers will be able to relate to on many different levels.

Heather Gudenkauf's, One Breath Away is a character-driven novel full of suspense, but to me there seemed to be something missing. The entire time I was reading, I couldn't help thinking, been there, done that - like I'd read a similar storyline before. Also, the short choppy chapters and some of the back-story took away from the urgency of what was going on at the school.

In One Breath Away, an
extremely small, close-
knit, farming
community is deeply
shaken when an armed gunman enters the all-
grade encompassing
school and takes a
classroom hostage.
Heather Kudenkauf's
well-crafted story is told from multiple
points of view, which
enhances the drama,
and pulls the reader
into the all-too-real
plot even more.
