A young boy presents a collection of humorous stories based on his real life and imagined events that have to do with kissing a dog, competitive hot dog eating, and a job delivering teeth.
Tongue-tied!
Puffin

When Amy arrives home for her birthday tea, her parents have vanished and in their place is a baby she's never seen before. At around the same time Sprocket wakes up naked on a deserted mountainside and realises that he has lost his memory. Both kids set out on journeys to find the people they belong to, little knowing that they will soon join forces and embark, with the baby, on the deadliest quest of their lives. Morris Gleitzman writes Amy's story and Paul Jennings Sprocket's, with each of them contributing alternate chapters. Uncanny! Paul Jennings' Funniest Stories Uncanny! I stared at Dad's eyes through the gas mask and remembered our handshake. A deal is a deal. With pounding heart, I walked into the soggy, wet mouth of the dead whale. It's uncanny . . . turning into a dung beetle, catching someone else's tattoos, being in bed with a ghost who tickles, seeing a flying dog. Tongue-tied

of his own
tale,
children's author and
screenwriter
Paul Jennings
demonstrates how seemingly
small events
can combine
into a
compelling
drama. As if assembling
the pieces of
a jigsaw
puzzle he
puts together
fragments,
memories and
anecdotes to reveal the portrait of a
