Peace in Amber is written from two vantage points, that of Howey himself as a ship captain at dock below the World Trade Center on the morning of September 11, 2001, and Montana Wildhack, a character from Vonnegut's original story. Montana was the mate selected by the Tralfamadorians for Billy Pilgrim, the protagonist of Slaughterhouse Five.

The peace offered by the world is an empty promise and can only bring temporary comfort. God's peace is a permanent peace offered by the only One who can be trusted to keep his Word and heal our sin. The world's peace is fleeting and changes with circumstances. During times of prosperity, nations experience temporary peace.

The Baltic region is home to the largest known deposit of amber, called Baltic amber or succinite. It dates from 44 million years ago (during the Eocene epoch). It has been estimated that these forests created more than 100,000 tons of amber. Today, more than 90% of the world's amber comes from Kaliningrad Oblast of Russia. It is a major source of income for the region; the local Kaliningrad ...

First Baby Snake From Dinosaur Era Found in Amber

Probably the most publicized peaceful era is the Pax Romana. Latin for "Roman peace," this period of roughly 200 years was made famous by the 18th-century historian Edward Gibbon in his landmark book "The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" [source: Encyclopædia Britannica Online]. Gibbon set the beginning of this time at 27 B.C., during the reign of Gaius Julius Caesar ...
