Simulate changes in moth population due to pollution and predation, and observe how species can change over time. Students play a bluebird trying to survive by eating moths in a forest. In one forest, the bark is light colored and the other has dark colored bark, similar to Kettlewell's experiment. Students collect data and draw conclusions.

Loudoun County Public Schools / Overview
The sheet guides the students through the Peppered Moths interactive created by Craig Davis. In the Peppered Moths activity, students first explore the life cycle of the peppered moth, continue on to the impact of pollution and Kettlewell's experiment. As they do so, they are simply gathering information (SP8).
