Robert Frost - Robert Frost Poems - Poem Hunter
Robert Frost sold his first poem titled My Butterfly in 1894 to The Independent at the rate of 15 dollars. Frost was proud of the success the poem brought to him and went on to ask Elinor Miriam White's hands in marriage. Both Elinor and Frost had graduated co-valedictorians from their high-school and remained in contact with one another.

Robert Frost – American Poems – Analysis, Themes, Meaning ...

Touted as the most famous poem by Frost, 'The Road Not Taken' describes our life's journey and how we face choices in every step of the way. Every day we have to make decisions, after all, life is about choices and their consequences, and we are only these fragments of our options soldered together.

A fine poem about urban isolation, and one of Frost's best (and most accessible) poems. 6. 'Fire and Ice'. This nine-line poem was supposedly the inspiration for the title of George R. R. Martin's A Song of Ice and Fire, and lends a curiously apocalyptic meaning to Game of Thrones.
