The Paradox of Being Female – Is there a Feeling of Belonging Together? Houghton Mifflin Harcourt

Anne Carson's poetry - characterized by various reviewers as "short talks", "essays", or "verse narratives" - combines the confessional and the critical in a voice all her own. Known as a remarkable classicist, Anne Carson in Glass, Irony and God weaves contemporary and ancient poetic strands with stunning style. This collection includes: "The Glass Essay", a powerful poem about the end of a love affair, told in the context of Carson's reading of the Bronte sisters; "Book of Isaiah", a poem evoking the deeply primitive feel of ancient Judaism; and "The Fall of Rome", about her trip to "find" Rome and her struggle to overcome feelings of a terrible alienation there.

Essay on Man Macmillan

A luminous collection of essays from one of our most original and influential poets Five decades after her debut poetry collection, Firstborn, Louise Glück is a towering figure in American letters.

Written with the same probing, analytic control that has long distinguished her poetry, American Originality is Glück's second book of essays—her first, Proofs and Theories, won the 1993 PEN/Martha Albrand Award for First Nonfiction. Glück's moving and disabusing lyricism is on full display in this decisive new collection. From its opening pages, American Originality forces readers to consider contemporary poetry and its demigods in radical, unconsoling, and ultimately very productive ways. Determined to wrest ample, often contradictory meaning from our current literary discourse, Glück comprehends and destabilizes notions of "narcissism" and "genius" that are unique to the American literary climate. This includes erudite analyses of the poets who have interested her throughout her own career, such as Rilke, Pinsky, Chiasson, and Dobyns, and introductions to the first books of poets like Dana Levin, Peter Streckfus, Spencer Reece, and Richard Siken. Forceful, revealing, challenging, and instructive, American Originality is a seminal critical achievement.

Essay poetry is only one variation among many forms of poetry that already exist and which will exist in the future. I does not pretend or claim to be superior or inferior to other forms of poetry. It also does not purport to either dominate or homogenize poetry. It is just one rose from the exuberant garden of Eden, which is filled with many other types of flowers. It is just one deer of a certain species that dwells among many other kinds of wildlife. It is only one color, orange, among a rainbow, which is enriched by a variety of other colors.

Essay from the year 2007 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Literature, grade: 1,0, Hawai'i Pacific University, course: 20th Century Women Writers of Color, language: English, abstract: Being female constitutes a kind of paradox. On the one hand, women constitute one group, one category because of their sex. On the other hand, the belonging to this group does not always mean that women have anything more in common than their sex. Genny Lim ' s poem " Wonder Woman " shows how the category of being female is divided in itself by other master statuses that not all women share, and it reveals that one ' s sex is not an issue which make humans necessarily stick together. On the basis of

Rosenblum ' s and Travis ' work The Meaning of Difference: American Constructions of Race, Sex and Gender, Social Class and Sexual Orientation, this paper will focus on the way in which Genny Lim ' s poem illustrates the construction of the " category of women " , and how concepts such as " Dichotomization " , " Othering " , " Aggregation " and " Double Consciousness " come into play when the poem ' s lyrical speaker ponders about and also criticizes the differences and similarities that she finds in women. The Pedestrian Farrar, Straus and Giroux

Look We Have Coming to Dover! is the most acclaimed debut collection of poetry published in recent years, as well as one of the most relevant and accessible. The Passionate Shepherd to His Love Oxford University Press

Seminar paper from the year 2020 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Literature, University of Innsbruck, language: English, abstract:

This paper analyses the following poems:

“ (Un-)Certainties ” by Regi Claire, Matthew Francis ’ “ Ladybird Summer ” , Mary McCollum ’ s “ The Boy with Dark Eyes ” and “ Fox ” by Phoebe Stuckes, which all distinguish themselves due to their non-traditional form and structure, illustrates deviation but consistency in the use of form and structure to convey meanings as intended by authors. The form and structure of a poem affects its meaning as desired by the poet. Several elements of form and structure help poets manipulate words to ensure that their poems elicit the desired outcome. Some poems provide a narration, others express feelings, inform an audience, or tell folklore. Depending on this, poets use different elements of form and structure such as placement, lengths of lines, groupings of stanzas and lines, rhyme scheme, and rhythm to achieve the desired effects. The shape of the poem as well as opening and closing stanzas offer insight into traditional poems. While these conventional poems follow particular rules of poetry, such as rhymes or a set amount of syllables per line, more modern poetry disregards these rules and thereby introduces new methods of deriving meaning.

Proofs & Theories McFarland

Winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature Proofs and Theories, winner of the PEN/Martha Albrand Award for First Non-Fiction, is an illuminating collection of essays by Louise Glück, one of this country's most brilliant poets. Like her poems, the prose of Glück, who won the Pulitzer Prize for poetry in 1993 for The Wild Iris, is compressed, fastidious, fierce, alert, and absolutely unconsolated. The force of her thought is evident everywhere in these essays, from her explorations of other poets' work to her skeptical contemplation of current literary critical notions such as "sincerity" and "courage." Here also are Glück's revealing reflections on her own education and life as a poet, and a tribute to her teacher and mentor, Stanley Kunitz. Proofs and Theories is not a casual collection. It is the testament of a major poet.

A Defence of Poetry and Other Essays Abrams

Essay from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Literature, grade: sob, , language: English, abstract: “ Tintern Abbey ” is considered as a kind of monologue in verse as Wordsworth confessed that he composed it in his mind while walking through the river Wye. It belongs, along with other 19 poems by this author and four by Samuel Taylor Coleridge, to Lyrical Ballads, which is considered to be the inaugural book of the Romantic

English Poetry. The main focus of these poems was that of looking for common life situations and depicting them in an unusual manner by means of the power of imagination. Wordsworth defined poetry as “ [...] the spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings ” and this consists on a breaking up with the 18th century concept of Classicist Canon which looked for poetical perfection. On the contrary, Wordsworth is influenced by the new 19th century ideas of “ individualism ” and seeks for the use of imagination and true feelings, not being so worried about poetical structural conventions

The Norton Anthology of Poetry

White Papers is a series of untitled poems that deal with issues of race from a number of personal, historical, and cultural perspectives. Expanding the territory of her 2006 book Blue Front, which focused on a lynching her father witnessed as a child, this book turns, among other things, to Martha Collins' childhood. Throughout, it explores questions about what it means to be white, not only in the poet's life, but also in our culture and history, even our pre-history. The styles and forms are varied, as are the approaches; some of the poems address race only implicitly, and the book, like Blue Front, includes some documentary and "found" material. But the focus is always on getting at what it has meant and what it means to be white—to have a race and racial history, much of which one would prefer to forget, if one is white, but all of which is essential to remember and to acknowledge in a multi-racial society that continues to live under the influence of its deeply racist past.
