The genes encoded in your DNA result in the production of proteins that perform specific functions within your cells.
Various environmental factors and spontaneous events can lead to changes in genes. These changes, called mutations, can lead to alterations in the structure and activity of the proteins your cells use in their daily activities.

A POGIL activity guides students through an exploration to construct, deepen, refine, and/or integrate understanding of relevant disciplinary content. The application and development of at least one of the targeted process skills is embedded in the structure and/or content of a POGIL activity and is not solely dependent upon the facilitation of the activity in the classroom or laboratory.

School Chemistry Answer Key I remind students of the words on the board: Equilibrium and Balance. It is much easier as a teacher to see who is working, who truly is not sure of the answer and who is just writing answers down that they found somewhere else. I ask students to describe the liquid in the bottle.
