Teacher's Guide Penguin UK

In 'Making Kids Cleverer: A manifesto for closing the advantage gap', David Didau reignites the nature vs. nurture debate around intelligence and offers research-informed guidance on how teachers can help their students acquire a robust store of knowledge and skills that is both powerful and useful. Foreword by Paul A. Kirschner. Given the choice, who wouldn't want to be cleverer? What teacher wouldn't want this for their students, and what parent wouldn't wish it for their children? When David started researching this book, he thought the answers to the above were obvious. But it turns out that the very idea of measuring and increasing children's intelligence makes many people extremely uncomfortable: If some people were more intelligent, where would that leave those of us who weren't? The question of whether or not we can get cleverer is a crucial one. If you believe that intelligence is hereditary and environmental effects are trivial, you may be sceptical. But environment does matter, and it matters most for children from the most socially disadvantaged backgrounds those who not only have the most to gain, but who are also the ones most likely to gain from our efforts to make all kids cleverer. And one thing we can be fairly sure will raise children's intelligence is sending them to school. In this wide-ranging enquiry into psychology, sociology, philosophy and cognitive science, David argues that with greater access to culturally accumulated information taught explicitly within a knowledge-rich curriculum children are more likely to become cleverer, to think more critically and, subsequently, to live happier, healthier and more secure lives.;Furthermore, by sharing valuable insights into what children truly need to learn during their formative school years, he sets out the numerous practical ways in which policy makers and school leaders can make better choices about organising schools, and how teachers can communicate the knowledge that will make the most difference to young people as effectively and efficiently as possible. David underpins his discussion with an exploration of the evolutionary basis for learning and also untangles the forms of practice teachers should be engaging their students in to ensure that they are acquiring expertise, not just consolidating mistakes and misconceptions. There are so many competing suggestions as to how we should improve education that knowing how to act can seem an impossible challenge. Once you have absorbed the arguments in this book, however, David hopes you will find the simple question that he asks himself whenever he encounters new ideas and initiatives Will this make children cleverer? as useful as he does.;Suitable for teachers, school leaders, policy makers and anyone involved in educations

Greek Tragedy Nelson Thornes

Spanning the comprehensive perspective of self, school and system, this tour-de-force is both well-informed and uplifting whilst at the same time being full of practical advice and guidance, rooted in the author's front-line role leading a school. Tom Rees's depth of thinking and knowledge of leadership, and his ability to translate that into both a structure and tone that will be relevant to leaders in schools today, will resonate with leaders at levels. The book is brilliantly supplemented with the thoughts and views of colleagues spanning the whole educational spectrum, including: Sir David Carter, Clare Sealy, Daisy Christodoulou, MAT CEOs, Julia Kedwards, Stephen Tierney and Andrew Morrish, plus his very own actual dad!

High Challenge, Low Threat is Mary Myatt's smart and thoughtful exploration of all the things that wise leaders do. Informed through thousands of conversations over a 20-year period in education, Mary shows the lessons that school management teams can learn from leaders in a wide range of other sectors and points to the conditions which these leaders create to allow colleagues to engage with difficult issues enthusiastically and wholeheartedly. This book makes the case that any leadership role is concerned primarily with the relationships between individuals. It is the quality of these, whatever the size of the organisation, which make the difference between organisations which thrive, and those which stagnate. This is not to argue for soft, easy and comfortable options. Instead it considers how top leaders manage to walk the line between the impossible and the possible, between the undoable and the doable, and to create conditions for productive work which transcend the difficulties which come towards us every day. Instead of dodging them, they embrace them. And by navigating high challenge, low threat, they show how others how to do the same.

This book will provide you with crystal clear and accurate, full mark examples of an "A" star grade AQA A Level Year 2 Psychology Paper 1 and Paper 2 examination from the current syllabus that I have created with my Quality Control System(tm) and moderated. This enables students to achieve the same grade in their upcoming examinations. The Quality Control System(tm) includes a summary of the Examination Papers, how to approach the Assessment Objectives in each examination and the correct Timings (minute/s per mark) and Word Count (per mark) for each question. This will ensure success in your Psychology examinations as it has done for my students. I teach both GCSEs and A levels and I am a qualified and experienced teacher and tutor of over 18 years standing. I teach, write and provide independent tuition in central and west London. I graduated from the Universities of Liverpool and Leeds and I obtained first class honours in my teacher training. I also write academic resources for the Times Educational Supplement. One of the most common questions my students have is: How do I get an A star in my exam? I have sought out model answers over the years which concentrate on how much time you should spend on each question, how the Assessment Objectives are met, and how many words need to be produced for each question. Failing to find this or even a concise layout of what is in each paper for AQA Psychology, I set about creating the answer to this real need. This book is the answer to this question and answers a real need that remains sadly unmet for the vast majority of students as you need to see it to be it (in this case - an A Star student). With coursework a thing of the past, your exams have never been more important with your entire grade decided by your exams and therefore your future place at university; which is the springboard to your future. Sadly, in addition to this, there has been so much disturbance and missed teaching time over the last couple of years too but this book will give you a head start. As a tutor I have often had extreme time pressures to give students the best chance in their exams with very limited teaching time available. This collection of exam answers is the best answer to these unavoidable problems. This book is packed with in-depth exemplar answers that demonstrate what A star exam answers look like on the full Psychology course. With a distinct focus on AQA's Assessment Objectives and the AQA Mark Scheme criteria these answers clarify the exam requirements and demonstrate how to construct full mark answers. The exam answers in this book push you towards your highest level and help you to remember what you have learnt in a practical and effective way; thus, demonstrating how to get every mark from the examiners! Through clear examples which demystify how to write the perfect answers, you can achieve A's and A Stars in the 2022 and 2023 Psychology A level examinations as perfect exam practice makes for perfect AQA Psychology exams! My tuition students have been fortunate enough to attain places to study at Oxford, Cambridge and Imperial College, London and other Russell Group Universities. Wholesome Leadership

Read This Before Our Next Meeting is Al Pittampalli's accessible guide on making meetings more effective, efficient, and worthy of attending. The average office worker spends eleven hours in meetings every week. Yet all that time sitting around a conference table hasn't made us more productive. If anything, meetings have made work worse. Traditional meetings reduce efficiency, kill urgency, and breed compromise and complacency. But there is a solution, a way to have fewer, shorter, more purposeful meetings: Al Pittampalli's Modern Meeting Standard. By following its eight simple but radical principles you may never have to attend a useless meeting again. 'I dutifully avoid meetings whenever possible, which is pretty much always. If I were to go to meetings, though, I'd want Al to run them.' Chris Guillebeau, author of The $100 Startup and The Art of Non-Conformity
