Hear in their own words, how they got started, what strategies they employ, how they deal with losing streaks, what setups are most profitable, how they overcome blowups, what tools they use, how they

In the spring of 1949, Stella O'Riain flees her home – a sheep property on the barren edge of the Strzelecki Desert. She leaves behind the graves of her husband Joe and her baby daughter. With no money and limited options, Stella accepts her brother-in-law Harry's offer to live at the O'Riain cane farm in the Richmond Valley. There she hopes to get answers to the questions that plague her about her marriage. However Harry refuses to discuss Joe or the family's secrets, even forbidding her to speak to the owner of the neighbouring property. Nearly a century earlier in County Tipperary, Irish cousins Brandon and Sean O'Riain also fled their homes – as wanted criminals. By 1867, they are working as cedar-cutters in New South Wales's lush green Richmond Valley. But while Brandon embraces the opportunities this new country offers, Sean refuses to let go of the past. And one cousin is about to make a dangerous choice that will have devastating consequences down the generations . . .

"This childhood memoir takes place in Iceland, a country just below the Arctic Circle. It's a story of a girl whose ancestors--farmers, murderers, poets, and priests--can be traced to the ninth century. It's a story about living, laughing, hurting, and growing up. Edith, the youngest of six, was born to an Icelandic mother and a Danish father. Her mother said she was a change-of-life baby; her father said she was an old soul. Early on in life, Edith looked to nature (and candy) for comfort. She found solace in the waves cresting on the Atlantic, the northern lights in the winter sky, wading over glacier rivers, and Esra, her very favorite mountain-always in view. (She could smell chocolate meters away.) Placed in a sanatorium at the age of eight, she had to make a new life for herself. At twelve she looked destined to repeat sixth grade forever. At fourteen, she considered joining the monastery. At sixteen her parents sent her to England to learn English. She learned more. This is a story that will make you laugh, sometimes cry, but a story you will want to read through to the last episode"--P. [4] of cover.
