The Rolex serial numbers are found between the lugs on the side of the case at the 6 o'clock side, behind the bracelet. This 4-8 digit number is engraved by Rolex on every watch and it can be used to determine its production date. Beginning in 2005, the Company started to also engrave the serial number on the inside flange (or "rehaut" as it's called in French) between the dial and the crystal.

Rolex bracelet codes are found on the inner part of the Rolex bracelet clasp and started in the 1950's when Rolex also began stamping the inner caseback of their watches. The only difference being that Rolex used roman numerals for the 'quarter' stamp in the case back and standard numerals for their 'quarter' bracelet stamps – so a 4th quarter watch from 1965 would be stamped IV.65 in the case back but 4.65 for the bracelet and with the quarter number stamped above the year. Bracelets and clasps play a full part in the unique pleasure of wearing a Rolex watch. Their ergonomics are carefully studied, while their robustness and reliability, their aesthetics and lustre are all inherent to the personality of the timepiece. Like the Oyster case, they are the product of a complex alchemy of form and function.
