Society demands a world that is truly safe and secure for all children to be born and raised into! All pedophiles are lobotomized the first time they offend! All runaway parents are found through national registries and forced to support their abandoned children! All females are sterilized at the age of eight years old! The Catholic Church endorses the national policy of sterilization! All females are tagged on their skin with their medical records as proof of sterilization. Any female adult found in noncompliance is hunted down and physically forced to comply! Any and all supporters of non-compliance are harshly dealt with. Reversal of sterilization is only possible after a lengthy peer review to determine applicants worth eligibility to physically have, care and provide for a child. Constant monitoring is part of their acceptance for the procedure. Every new request for pregnancy requires a new review for eligibility, having passed once does not automatically ensure future allowed pregnancies. All this and more ensures a better society where the needs and rights of a child are placed before those of any adult.

Every episode of the first four seasons of equipment oddities, weird science, strange but true observations, and nutty technical difficulties for discriminating fans of Deep Space Nine. Commanders Log, DS9: Star Date 46379.1: Bajor below. The cosmos above. Bloopers Everywhere! How long is the wormhole? In "Emissary," it is 70,000 light years. Four episodes later Sisko says it is 90,000. Better check the odometer, Sisko! Does the Space Station rotate? Sometimes it does, and sometimes it doesn't! Look at the stars in the windows... Now that NextGen is history, the time has come to take a leap through hyperspace and land on Deep Space Nine. It's unexplored territory for nitpicking, the ultimate challenge for discriminating fans. This guide brings you the scoop on Deep Space Nine--the good, the bad, and the Ferengi. Author Phil Farrand (with a little help from his Trekker friends) has had his VCR in warp drive and surveyed every DS9 episode of the first four seasons for the glitches, gaffs, and goofs that neither the station's engineers nor the show's writers have solved. Sit yourself down with this guide in one hand, your remote control in the other, and see for yourself what the wormhole has wrought.

In the 21st century the companies that make stories seem increasingly uninterested in providing a satisfying product to what they see as an audience of captive fans. To free you from captive fandom, the Guide to Good Story will show you how the value of a story comes from "Three Dimensions." The first dimension is appeal, which describes the value stories provide by stimulating our emotions and providing us with the kinds of experiences that we want to have. The second is quality, which describes how well or poorly a story provides the elements our brain needs to generate and maintain the "suspension of reality." The third dimension, context, describes how factors outside of a story shape it and create value within the story. You will then learn how to use the three dimensions together to become an aficionado, someone who uses the Three Dimensions to find good stories for themselves.
