Desperate to create some order in her world, Eddie makes lists obsessively and wears a rainbow of rubber bands on her wrists to remind her of the important things in life. With each snap of one of the bands, the pain helps her to chew her food, laugh out loud, and remain brave even when she is fearful. Unfortunately, when she learns that her best friend's grandmother is terminally ill, she's ...

For all the grimness of the subject, this is a lovely, quiet story, simply told.

And it's most notable for all the things it isn't: no villains, no suspense, no tearjerking, no clueless adults, no deathbed scene -- in fact, no death.
