The second edition of Race in Society analyzes the social dynamics of systemic racism and the persistence of racial inequality in US institutions. The book is informed by contemporary social science research and includes the most recent studies on racial disparities during the COVID pandemic and current racial protests. Race in Society is intended for courses in the sociology of race and ethnicity and can be used in other social science and interdisciplinary courses. Its accessible writing style, student friendly approach, and brevity make it attractive to instructors who want to pair it with other monographs or anthologies. Four themes guide the organization of the book: the social construction of race and ethnicity, as they evolve within systems of power and privilege; the social dynamics of prejudice, bias, and racism; the systemic character of racial inequality in US social institutions; and, strategies for social change, especially as the United States becomes increasingly racially and ethnically diverse. A new feature in the second edition, "Taking Action against Racism," will appeal to students who want to know what they can do to challenge racism. New to this edition: New preface and introduction Chapter 2 has been updated to include new research on the significance of racial resentment, as well as discussion of racial backlash and white rage Chapter 3 includes current data on the inclusion of people of color in media organization and media usage by diverse groups New material in Chapter 4 on multiracial identities and multiracial relationships Chapter 5 includes current attitudinal data on immigration, all of which reflects evolving US politics about immigration, the border wall, and national borders.
