The Sheik is a 1921 American silent romantic drama film produced by Famous Players-Lasky, directed by George Melford, starring Rudolph Valentino and Agnes Ayres, and featuring Adolphe Menjou. It was based on the bestselling romance novel of the same name by Edith Maude Hull and was adapted for the screen by Monte M. Katterjohn. The film was a box-office hit and helped propel Valentino to stardom. In the 1926 sequel The Son of the Sheik, Valentino played both the Sheik and his son, while Ayres re

The Sheikh of course always got first choice, but never had a woman caught his eye until now. Avni stepped onto the stage. She was dressed in a midnight blue dress, trailing all the way down to the floor, her eyes twinkled brighter than the stars and pulled the Sheikh toward her, so much so he stood up and smiled "Shes the one, the one I want"

Sold To The Sheikh (2012) About book:

This was the 1st story I've read by this author. I tend to prefer darker romances when I read about BDSM, they are usually edgier. However, I am thrilled to finally find an author to make a story that is BDSM in flavor, still romantic yet not a soft fluffy romance.
