Academic – St Stithians College

“ Science is not finished until it is communicated ” , as the saying goes, and it is this process that students are getting exposed to when participating in external science competitions. Science competitions are crucial in fostering the qualities valued so highly by scientists: that being analytical and innovative thinking, collaboration and science communication in particular.
