One of the most important themes in The Giver is the significance of memory to human life. Lowry was inspired to write The Giver after a visit to her aging father, who had lost most of his long-term memory. She realized that without memory, there is no pain—if you cannot remember physical pain, you might as well not have experienced it, and you cannot be plagued by regret or grief if you cannot remember the events that hurt you.

Rules in Jonas's community are very hard to change. Chapter two in Lois Lowry's The Giver explains that unimportant rules go to a committee for study if someone proposes a change, but important...
