If A is a vector, then $\text{sum}(A)$ returns the sum of the elements.. If A is a matrix, then $\text{sum}(A)$ returns a row vector containing the sum of each column.. If A is a multidimensional array, then $\text{sum}(A)$ operates along the first array dimension whose size does not equal 1, treating the elements as vectors. This dimension becomes 1 while the sizes of all other dimensions remain the same.
