Never Buried Insight Kids
How is academia portrayed in children's literature? This Element ambitiously surveys fictional professors in texts marketed towards children, who are overwhelmingly white and male, tending to be elderly scientists. Professors fall into three stereotypes: the vehicle to explain scientific facts, the baffled genius, and the evil madman. By the late twentieth century, the stereotype of the male, mad, muddlehead, called Professor SomethingDumb, is formed in humorous yet pejorative fashion. This Element provides a publishing history of the role of academics in children's literature, questioning the book culture which promotes the enforcement of stereotypes regarding intellectual expertise in children's media. This title is also available, with additional material, as Open Access.

Craft your own World. Trade with neighboring Empires. Become a God. Garrett thought Terra Forma was just a game, but in reality, it was a test created by a devastatingly beautiful ancient goddess to find the most creative man in the universe. Now, in order to help her defeat an ancient primordial deity, Garrett will have to take a dirt rock and transform it into the heart of the most powerful empire the universe has ever seen. And to do that, he'll have to unlock portals to other worlds, harvest their resources, and bring back settlers to his world. Sure, it's a nearly impossible task, but at the same time, how often do you get the chance to play god? Warning: This book contains adult elements and sheer incredibleness.

Monster Allergy, Vol. 3 Millbrook Press

A truly remarkable story of a woman who went through 37 years of hell to then experience the appearance of an Indian guide called White Arrow who changed her life completely. After ten years of being a Medium helping others, White Arrow asked her to send seven symbols he had given her, to the American Indians in Montana. The explanation of the symbols were to send her on a path that no man has ever taken or witnessed before; Montana, Egypt, Mexico, Amazon, Jerusalem and North Dakota. Over one hundred and fifty drawings that have been translated by experts gave proof that her guide had been here before as Jesus Christ. White Arrow has come with friends from other Galaxies to help him on his mission to save the dying Earth - to stop men destroying the very thing that we need to survive: The Rainforests of the Earth. Aliens, Moses, The Virgin Mary, Imhotep, Isis, Horus, Albert Einstein etc - all must be read and heard. This is a book that must be read by men and women everywhere. A warning at the end of the book that will leave us with fear if we do nothing. A book that will leave everyone wondering how this all came about.
