The Tau since mit 6th edition always used to be OP and it was never a big fun to play against that fraction. In 6th they had overwatch on 2+ and always ignored cover so that many lists (although played by best skilled players) were unbeatable.

From The Fang: Tau in 6th Edition

Codex: Tau Empire (Hoare, 2006) was the first publication to incorporate the impact of this game event on the 40k universe. In the new background material published with the Codex, it is explained that Imperial forces were drawn away from Tau space to defend against Abaddon's Thirteenth Black Crusade.

The 6th edition FAQ for Tau clearly states that this bit of wargear no longer does anything. Now obviously in 5th it technically didn't do anything as target priority tests don't exist but most people played it as the model with a target lock could fire at a different target to the rest of the squad.
