Transgression means to 'cross over': borders, disciplines, practices, professions, and legislation. This book explores how the transgression of boundaries produces new forms of architecture, education, built environments, and praxis. Based on material from the 10th International Conference of the AHRA, this volume presents contributions from academics, practicing architects and artists/activists from around the world to provide perspectives on emerging and transgressive architecture. Divided into four key themes — boundaries, violations, place and art practice - it explores global processes, transformative praxis and emerging trends in architectural production, examining alternative and radical ways of practicing architecture and reimagining the profession. The wide range of international contributors are drawn from subject areas such as architecture, cultural geography, urban studies, sociology, fine art, film-making, photography, and environmentalism, and feature examples from regions such as the United States, Europe and Asia. At the forefront of exploring inter-disciplinary and trans-disciplinary research and practice, Transgression will be key reading for students, researchers and professionals with an interest in the changing nature of architectural and spatial disciplines.

Texas Rules of Civil Procedure 2020 Model Rules of Professional Conduct

This Handbook is designed to help people dealing with civil lawsuits in federal court without legal representation. Proceeding without a lawyer is called proceeding "pro se," a Latin phrase meaning "for oneself," or sometimes "in propria persona," meaning "in his or her own person." Representing yourself in a lawsuit can be complicated, time consuming, and costly. Failing to follow court procedures can mean losing your case. For these reasons, you are urged to work with a lawyer if possible. Chapter 2 gives suggestions on finding a lawyer. Do not rely entirely on this Handbook. This Handbook provides a summary of civil lawsuit procedures, but it may not cover all procedures that may apply in your case. It also does not teach you about the laws that will control your case. Make sure you read the applicable federal and local court rules and do your own research at a law library or online to understand your case. The United States District Court for the Northern District of California has Clerk's Offices in the San Francisco, San Jose and Oakland courthouses. Clerk's Office staff can answer general questions, but they cannot give you any legal advice. For example, they cannot help you decide what to do in your lawsuit, tell you what the law means, or even advise you when documents are due. There are Legal Help Centers in the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose courthouses where you can get free help with your lawsuit from an attorney who can help you prepare documents and give limited legal advice. This attorney will not be your lawyer and you will still be representing yourself. See Chapter 2 for more details.

New York Civil Practice Before Trial REVISION 14 HIGHLIGHTS This edition revises 22 chapters, adds 14 new sections, and updates more than 100 sections with over 200 recent case developments including these: Six-year CPLR 213 statute governed interior designer ' s contract as opposed to the four-year UCC 2-725 statute. The continuous representation doctrine applies to statutory limitations periods only and not to contractual limitations periods. Parties may by contract provide that representations and warranties are made “ as of the Closing Date ” rather than the earlier date of execution of the agreement. When a note and mortgage were assigned during a foreclosure action but, the assignee opted to continue the action in the assignor ’ s name, the assignee could take advantage of CPLR 205(a) when re-commencing the dismissed action in its own name. Courts disagree on whether registration by a foreign corporation constitutes consent to general jurisdiction. In a dispute between Spanish companies over a contract executed in Spain, the parties ’ trips to New York to secure a customer were sufficient to permit New York long arm jurisdiction. When a loan agreement contains the borrower ’ s consent to New York jurisdiction, but the accompanying guarantee does not contain such consent, the guarantor may be subject to New York jurisdiction. Residence for venue purposes cannot be demonstrated solely by evidence of ownership. Defendant may demand a complaint after both steps of “ leave and mail ” service have been completed, but before proof of service has been filed. When counsel appears for a defendant in default without challenging jurisdiction, the challenge is waived. First and Second Departments disagree on whether a defendant must demonstrate existence of a meritorious defense when applying to extend the time to appear, plead, or answer. Amended counterclaims must name the plaintiff even if the original counterclaim did so. A defendant amending an answer as of right may include a previously omitted limitations defense. Motion to amend or supplement pleadings must include a copy of the proposed amended or supplemental pleading. Courts may allow discovery of system metadata when relevant. Obtaining ESI from nonparties requires more than mere relevance. Who bears the costs of e-discovery, the party seeking discovery or the producing party? Drafting requirements for a litigation hold. Differing standards for imposing sanctions for negligent and grossly negligent failure to preserve ESI. Plaintiff ’ s failure to promptly object to specificity of expert disclosure can foreclose objection at trial. Courts will not engage in interest-balancing to determine which state ’ s privilege law will apply. When attorneys consult in-house “ counsel to the firm ” about ethical obligations to firm client, their communications are not discoverable by the client. Court of Appeals holds that the common interest privilege applies only when subject matter of otherwise protected attorney-client communication is litigation, not transactional, advice.
