Gunaar Huttunen, the howling miller, gets himself locked up in a horrendous state hospital then escapes and lives a Thoreau-like existence in the forest, helped by a sympathetic girl friend. The basic theme is the old notion of a wise benign eccentric whose amiable antics are mistaken by stupid people for madness.

Gunnar is big. He's a bit odd. And, strangest of all, he howls wildly at night. If Gunnar is different, then he must be mad, the villagers decide. Hounded from his home, he must find a way to survive the wilds of nature and the greater savagery of civilization. The Howling Miller is a dark fairytale of community, conformity and our place in the world.

The Howling Miller (Finnish: Ulvova myll ä ri) is a 1981 novel by the Finnish author Arto Paasilinna. The protagonist of the story, which is set in Finnish Lapland around 1950, is a man by the name of Gunnar Huttunen, who settles in a small village to mend and run a derelict mill. Huttunen is an enterprising and resourceful man, a hard worker, proudly independent but generally good-natured.
