Published in two parts in 1895 and 1898, and written by Stanton with a committee of twenty-six other women, The Women's Bible challenges the tradition of religion that woman should be subservient to man. Stanton introduced a radical, women's theology, that stressed independence and self development. The book attracted a great deal of controversy and antagonism in its time, and became a runaway bestseller. It remains to this day a standard text in Women's Studies.

To understand what ministry is all about we must first define it. Minister is noun; it is a person authorize to conduct religious worship; member of clergy or pastor. Then Peter opens his mouth and said "In truth I perceive that God shows not partially. But in every nation whoever fears Him and works righteousness is accepted by Him Acts 10: 34-35 (NKJ NIV STUDY BIBLE) God has no respecter of person; He can use anybody; anywhere and at anytime to accomplish His plan. But there are some things God intended for men only and that are an office of a Bishop and Deacon. I don't care what anyone says we have taken God word and made it into man and the bible strictly tells us not to add or take away. It is God's word and we have cross the line when we disobey his word. I will be discussing this a little further in chapters. In our world today women don't get the recognition we deserve. We are considered lower than men who sometimes looked upon as stay at home wives bearing children. There are some jobs women fill that men do and don't receive the same pay as they do. Society had downgraded women for years even in some of the songs that these wrappers sing. It is time for women to take back their authority God had given to us in the most respectful way towards men. We must stand up to secure our future in this world. God has made us equal to men. In the book of Genesis 2:18 The LORD God said, "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a helper suitable for him." (NIV) <http://biblehub.com/genesis/2-18.htm>. God had put Adam to sleep and took one rib from his side Genesis 2:21 and created woman. When God woke Adam up He (God) brought the woman to Adam then He (Adam) named her woman because she came from his side and that is where a woman suppose to be right by her man side, not to be trampled on, not to be left behind nor forgotten but to walk side by side helping the man in every task that was put to him. Somewhere down the line men have forgotten that woman do have a place in society they have forgotten that we are more than housewives who stay home raising children or running errands not to mentioned cooking, cleaning, and doing their laundry.

WOMEN OF LIFE is a book on all you need to know about women; the myths, truths and secrets. It is a synopsis of the inspirational and dramatic lives of over 50 women in the bible. Some were virtuous women, crooks, prostitutes, leaders, prophetesses, adulteresses, murderers, philanthropists, etc. So, you can imagine how insightful, enlightening and entertaining it would be... the love, drama, support, adventure... and so much knowledge. Knowledge exposes purpose; understanding the purpose of a design helps us determine the value. Women are powerful forces of influence. Whether for good or evil, no matter the roles they play; as mothers, wives, daughters, sisters, friends or staff. Their intuitive nature, strength, multitasking prowess and ability to nurture always make them a force to reckon with. Everyone who wants to live a peaceful life must learn to give every woman in their life her rightful place and let her function in her unique role. This is so important because the average woman is multifaceted, far-reaching and boundless. Virtually every woman wants to extend her relevance, infringe on other roles and grab more territories, seriously, this is why we see mothers wanting to play the role of wives, wives wanting to take the place of mothers-in-law, sisters, female friends or even staff colliding into each other's role. Wherever you see strife, heartbreak and marital issues, the core reason is not always far from this. Most women can endure anything but the snatching away of their roles, position and rewards to give to another. Many people bemoan the fact that women cannot be understood. I read a funny meme encouraging men to give up on ever understanding women. It said, "if women shave off their god-given brows and draw another for themselves... if women exchange their natural breast for silicon... how can any man ever hope to understand or satisfy them?" Are women that mysterious? Are women unpredictable? This book gives us a deep insight into the 'WOMAN' God created, what you need to know about her, how to harness the power embedded in her and enjoy the blessings of being her, knowing her and loving her.

Who is the Proverbs 31 Woman? She is very often seen as God's perfect woman. She is held up as an example to whom all women should aspire. Is this God's ideal? God never says He wants women to be perfect. In fact, if you read about the women who are presented in the Bible, you will see that they were perfectly imperfect. We may not be perfect, but we do our best. We are Godly women, and we depend on God for strength and guidance. You cannot compare yourself to this perfect woman. However, since she is found in God's Word, we can be certain there were things that women (and men) were meant to learn about her. The Proverbs 31 Woman has a secret power to lead you to information God meant for you to know. In Hebrew, she is Eshet Chayil, the woman God created us to be. This is no woman of perfection. The Eshet Chayil is a Warrior. She is a real Flesh and blood woman of valor and might and she has much to teach us. Most importantly, she will help you to understand the power God has given you to become Eshet Chayil. DISCOVER THE SECRET POWER OF THE PROVERBS 31 WOMAN AND UNLEASH IT IN YOUR LIFE.

"The Women in His Life: What Jesus Saw in Them" gives the reader a peek into the mind of Jesus through the creative expression of the author as she imagines his relationships with the women of the New Testament. This is a collection of forty-three stories about women in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Each story begins with a verse or verses from the New Testament, followed by the words the author imagines Jesus would have spoken to express his thoughts and feelings about the women he interacted with or heard about during his life. The author has given a name to some of the women who otherwise are nameless in the gospels. She has used modern vernacular to enable the reader to imagine how Jesus might have told these stories today. Against the historical, cultural, and religious backdrop of the restricted public role of women in the first century, Jesus comes through as a man who honored, appreciated, and respected the true value, importance and needs of women. He enjoyed their company and celebrated with them. He was gentle, playful, and challenging. He treated women as equals. He honored their natural gifts and disregarded the societal conventions that forbade him from interacting with them. Speaking and listening to women directly, he looked into the hearts of all he encountered with compassion and love as he ministered to them. He drew from them their opinions and ideas and they responded to him with love, loyalty, and respect. He was a Zealot who also was tender and caring. This unique, thought-provoking book will be of interest to those who already enjoy a spiritual relationship with Jesus as well as those who are simply curious to know more about the historical man whose life has impacted the world for more than 2,000 years. It can be read in a book club or a women's spiritual group. It can be used for personal meditation or as a Bible study aide for those who enjoy women's New Testament studies.

Womanhood: Becoming a Woman of Virtue presents an eight-week, interactive Bible study suitable for the individual or a group setting. Eight specially selected women of ancient times were, for the most part, ordinary women who find themselves in unprecedented circumstances. Some of the choices and decisions made by Eve, Sarah, Rebekah, Rachel, Miriam, Deborah, Tamar, and Esther will challenge us, their hardships will encourage us, their faith will inspire us, and the lessons they learned will reflect a ready application for women of the twenty-first century. Ultimately, there is the opportunity to grow in one's own faith and understanding of the Scriptures. The In-depth study is developed for the woman who likes to linger in the Word. There are five daily homework assignments that require approximately thirty-five minutes of study time per day to complete. Personal application questions are at the end of each daily lesson. Participants will meet together once a week for a two-hour session to discuss the homework assignments. The Condensed section is designed for the woman on the go. It is suitable for the individual or for a group setting. Questions are meant to help today's woman connect with women of the Old Testament, relate to one another in class, and hear what the Lord is saying to her through His written Word. Participants will meet once a week for a two-hour session. Class members will work together on completing the weekly assignments and discussion questions. There is no homework.
