The words "Disciple," "Mentor," and "Coach" are often used interchangeably. But they are different. We disciple new believers laying foundations of faith. We mentor emerging leaders providing leadership formation. We coach ministry practitioners encouraging fruitfulness. Between them, Osterhouse and Teja have logged six decades of mentoring emerging leaders. They have had their share of "successes" and "failures," learning from both in the process. They share those lessons with us in this delightful, yet challenging, book.

Sending Well: A Field Guide to Great Church Planter Coaching gives practical steps for creating a system that delivers great coaching to church planters. Whether you are coaching planters or attempting to develop coaches for multiple planters, this book will help you. Sending Well helps coaches and leaders enhance their coaching efforts in three parts: Part One: Build a Coaching Framework – Coaching is a vehicle to help church planters pursue their unique Kingdom assignment. Building a coaching framework is crucial to this assignment. Church planter coaches and the planters they coach must have the same purposes in mind. are made not born; they are developed. Sending Well creates simple targets for coaches who want to move from “ good enough ” to “ great.” Part Three: Deliver Great Coaching – The meaning of the word “ coach ” must evolve from training to action. “ Coach ” is a verb, and supporting church planters is the desired outcome. Sending Well explores four vital elements of a coaching delivery system.

Une vocation auprès des plus démunis Dans le contexte actuel de baisse drastique de la pratique religieuse, Jean-Philippe Auger plaide pour une conversion de nos attitudes pastorales. Car, si la nouvelle évangélisation encourage tous les chrétiens à participer à la mission, comment, concrètement, effectuer ce tournant missionnaire essentiel pour l'Église catholique ? Dans cet essai inspiré par sa propre conversion pastorale, Padre Coach nous présente étape par étape toutes les facettes des changements de perspective vivifiants pour le christianisme. Bien au fait de l'expertise développée dans le monde protestant évangélique, il ne néglige rien du problème et l'aborde avec optimisme et réalisme. Car le monde a soif d'Évangile et il ne manque que des ouvriers compétents et capables d'engranger les récoltes. « Selon ce que j'en avais compris, les conditions optimales étaient réunies pour l'obtention d'une récolte exceptionnelle : la moisson est là, prête à être engrangée, et qui plus est, elle est abondante, les fruits à recueillir é tant offerts en quantité. Par conséquent, le poids de la récolte repose davantage sur les ouvriers que sur la moisson. »

In today's increasingly competitive and insecure economic environment, we often question the reason for work: why am I doing this? Why is it so hard? And what can I do about it? Work may seem just a means to an end: we do it to earn the money to enjoy life outside the workplace. Here, Timothy Keller argues that God's plan is radically more ambitious: he actually created us to work. We are to work together to make the world a better place, to help each other, and so to find purpose for our lives.

Our faith should enhance our work, and our work should develop our faith. With deep insight, Timothy Keller draws on essential and relevant biblical wisdom to address our questions about work. There is grace available if we have taken the wrong attitude, idolising money and using our careers to glorify ourselves rather than God. This book provides the foundations for a work-life balance where we can thrive both personally and professionally. Keller shows how through excellence, integrity, discipline, creativity and passion in the workplace we can impact society for good. Developing a better attitude to work releases us to serve others humbly, to worship God everyday, and leaves us deeply fulfilled.

Comment Jésus formait-il ses disciples ? Les évangiles témoignent que le Christ intervenait souvent auprès de ceux-ci, afin qu'ils deviennent eux aussi, à leur façon, de véritables leaders pour l'Église naissante. Il est donc possible, en scrutant les attitudes de Jésus et en les liant à ce que l'on sait aujourd'hui sur le développement du leadership, de bien s'outiller pour devenir un vrai leader chrétien et en former d'autres par la suite.

Spiritual Leadership Coaching Penguin Leadership (the ability to bring people together to accomplish shared goals), be it in an organization or a church, was instituted by God from the beginning. In the context of the church, God commissioned church leadership to "go and make disciples of all nations," to win souls for His kingdom throughout the world instead of standing behind a pulpit in a conventional four walls edifice that we come to know as "church" or donning themselves with ostentatious titles, like "bishop, apostles, prophet or prophetess," to cite a few. The derailment of God's perspective for church leadership has left billions of people worldwide, unreached and disenfranchised from God's words, thereby, invoking rampant suffering, not only from the ravages of wars, hunger, abject poverty, or disease, but also the transforming power of the Gospel. In the Leadership Practices: A Global and Biblical Perspective, Drs. Cedric and Widza Bryant underscore God's directives, His original intent of authentic biblical leadership designed to reach all people throughout the world—all of which are encapsulated in Genesis 1:26 to Adam and Eve, to Noah in Genesis 9:1, and in Mathew 28:19 – 20, Jesus's mandates to the twelve disciples: "Go and make disciples of all nations." Leadership Practices: A Global and Biblical Perspective illuminates our understanding of the biblical inerrancy of leadership by probing on scholars' relentless pursuit to further their knowledge of leadership definition and to expose different interpretations that provide a clear picture of what leadership is and how to apply it to reach excellence. "Could the inexorable pursuits to define leadership and align its practices be the cause of man's biased predispositions from God's intended purpose? A trend that commenced before humanity even existed..." The book accentuates the notion that leadership practices, according to God's design, was to be "global and accessible"—a Christ-centered mandate with tangible and pervasive biblical root that compels leaders to be open to change and to submit to God's original practices. The manuscript provides the reader with a biblically based model of leadership, using numerous scriptural case-studies that illustrate the differences between what it means to operate as a leader 'of this world' and what it means to be a Christian leader 'in this world.' By following a Christ-centered model, leaders learn how 'success begins with change' and she emphasizes how leaders must first be willing to submit to change themselves before they can guide the process in others. The manuscript is filled with extensive research blending scholarly works with scriptural illustrations which collectively produce an insightful repository for leaders to draw upon as they aspire to become a global Christian leader. The book has wide applications for church leaders at the local, national, and global levels. -Dr. Richardson, Regent University

Planting Missional Churches Brazos Press

Leadership is the habit of making good choices. Even in difficult and uncertain circumstances, the most effective leaders focus their attention and overcome entrenched patterns of behavior to push an organization to new heights of success. This capability is no fluke: the latest research on the brain shows that we can pinpoint the mental activity associated with it—and cultivate it for our benefit. In this book, Art Kleiner, a strategy expert; Jeffrey Schwartz, a research psychiatrist; and Josie Thomson, an executive coach, give a transformative explanation of how cutting-edge neuroscience can help business leaders set a course toward better management. Mapping the functions of a manager onto established patterns of mental activity, they identify crucial brain circuits and their parallels in organizational culture. Strategic leaders, they show, play the role of wise advocates: able to go beyond day-to-day transactional behavior to a longer-term, broader perspective that articulates their organization's deeper purpose. True leaders can play this influencer role in an organization because they have cultivated similar self-reflective habits in their own minds. Providing a powerful guide to decision strategies and their consequences, The Wise Advocate helps managers find their own inner voice and then make that voice ring out loud and clear, with a four-step program for practice and catalytic implications for management strategy, executive education, and business results. Surprised by Grace Baker Books With nearly fifty years combined global church-planting experience, Craig Ott and Gene Wilson are well qualified to write a comprehensive, up-to-date guide for cross-cultural church planting. Combining substantive biblical principles and missiological understanding with practical insights, this book walks readers through the various models and development phases of church planting. Advocating methods that lead to church multiplication, the authors emphasize the role of the missionary church planter. They offer helpful reflection on current trends and provide best practices gathered from research and empirical findings around the globe. The book takes up a number of special issues not addressed in most church planting books, such as use of short-term teams, partnerships, and wise use of resources. Full of case studies and real examples from around the world, this practical text will benefit students, church planters, missionaries, and missional church readers.

This new book from top Christian education professionals integrates biblical foundations, educational theory, and practical insights into a new curriculum formation approach for the local church. Uniquely identifying curriculum as a means of ministry through the metaphor of mapmaking, it shows how believers are lost along the spiritual journey without a study plan, having no clear destination or reliable path to follow toward maturity.

Detailing the theological, educational, and pastoral dimensions that make a curriculum Christian, the text is arranged into four sections: (1) rationale for curriculum, (2) curricular foundations, (3) curricular theory, and (4) the practice of curriculum.

Covering areas from children ' s ministry to adult education, contributors include editors James R.

Estep, Karen L. Estep, and Roger White as well as Holly Allen, Mark H. Senter
