Mythology is a significant piece of any spiritual practice. It is through mythology that we learn how a culture perceived and interacted with the universe. Myths were shared through time, from ancient villages to modern society. Jean Pagano has taken this opportunity to continue sharing those stories with the children of today. He is dedicated to the continued pursuit of education and has an eagerness to share his knowledge with others. This book is the result of that excitement. In this book, Jean tells us the story of Vakarin é , the evening star, and her duties as a caretaker. She shows us that even in the darkest part of the night, there is warmth and brightness to be found in the universe. The story ties mythology into one of the most easily recognized natural cycles we experience and gives children one explanation for what happens to the sun at night. The myth is uplifting and comforting, like any great bedtime story. Review by Amber

"The best parts of you are hidden where you're most afraid to look."

--Michael Benner, Fearless Intelligence Fear is a doorway to understanding yourself better. The secret is to plumb the depth and breadth of your anxiety and confusion in relaxed levels of expanded awareness. Becoming more self-aware of your anxious feelings reveals the personal wisdom hidden within heartache and upset. "As we understand our self better, we become less alienated and more content -- calmer, happier, and more self-confident. Fewer random thoughts demand our attention. This or that occurs as this and that, and behavior becomes less reflexive -- more appropriate, even-tempered and well reasoned. Soon, defensiveness yields to acceptance, competition surrenders to cooperation -- lines fade, borders dissolve, and your perspective expands to include the 'Wholeness' of life."

The Winning Way Ava Ray

AFTERLIFE SAGA, Book 5 The Winning Way By definition, winning means that you competed and you came out ahead. Human nature requires us to compete in order to survive. Therefore, winning and survival have the element of success in common. To ascend to a winning position, you need a goal, a desire to achieve it, and the qualities of discipline, perseverance and action to attain it. Having your goal and setting yourself up to achieve your goal is the first step in the process. You adjust your mindset and begin to plan diligently. Goals may be as different as DNA, but methodologies have much in common.

Furthermore, your plans and expectations will need adjustments as you go along. That is why the knowledge shared by the CelebrityExperts(r) in this book will be of importance to you. The advice and suggestions of these CelebrityExperts(r) are based on their experiences - both their accomplishments and their shipwrecks. The knowledge they share will allow you to make plans that can propel you in the right direction. That is the function of a mentor - to guide you where you are going and to advise what to avoid. If you wish to develop The Winning Way to your goals, read on... You will never win if you never begin.
