Engineering Notebook Form Template | JotForm

This video gives some tips for keeping an engineering notebook. Team 2442B, the Bancroft Robodog Beagles brings up reasons for keeping a notebook and four different types of entries: meeting minutes, research, pictures and charts/lists.

The notebook should be written in ink with errors crossed out using a single line. Pages should be numbered and entries should be dated in chronological order with each page signed or initialed by the students. Additional materials such as computer code or CAD drawings should be glued or taped into the notebook. Team Design Notebooks and Team Journals
