WestlawNext for Corporate Counsel Plan ... | Legal Solutions

In two posts I wrote about Bloomberg Law — one earlier this month and one when it launched — I cited something that Bloomberg emphasizes as a key selling point, its flat-fee pricing of $450 per user per month.. My question to you is: How does that compare to what you pay for Westlaw or LexisNexis? Pricing of these services seems to be all over the board, depending on any number of factors ...

Westlaw: It is up to the firm how much, if at all, they will bill back to the client.

Westlaw suggests billing $99 per search, which price includes all the documents clicked on (unless the document is outside of the plan). This is known as "WestlawNext Predictable Pricing".

Westlaw Legal Calendaring Reviews and Pricing - 2019

I finally found something on WestlawNext pricing from a Thomson Reuters document called “ WestlawNext: Pricing Guide for Commercial Plans “. The pricing seems a wee-bit steep on my initial view, especially if you take the per minute charge and multiply them by 60 to get the hourly charges (like I did in the chart below.)

Westlaw Next Pricing Guide

It seems that the folks at WestlawNext have created a simple two-page resource that helps us all understand the pricing of their new product. You got to love a clearly written two-page document like this that list out twenty-four scenarios along with three footnotes listing caveats to some of the scenarios.
